in East Germany (GDR)

Dr. Herbert Lappe

The memory of Holocaust in GDR had been inconsistent: On one part it was well known, on the other part people knew nearly nothing about Jews, history of the Jews in Germany and the background of Antisemitism. Finally most German were made to victims of the Nazis too. First the lecture shows the visible dealing with Holocaust and the less obvious gaps. Afterwards these phenomena will be explained, considering the “Anti-fascist state” and its dictatorship. At the end the lecture will present activities of remembering Holocaust regardless of the Communist Party and the government.
